NEW-YORK YACHT CLUB MEN SPEED THE PARTING GUEST.

TWO DINNERS IN HIS HONOR LAST EVENING

VALKYRIE LAID UP FOR THE WINTER. Lord Dunrayen and his family sail to-day for England, Last night the Earl was doubly entertained. C. Oliver Iselin gave him a dinner at the Knicker-bocker Club, and the New-York Yacht Club gave him an informal reception at the clubhouse in Madison-ave afterward. The dinner at the Knickerbocker Club was a private one, and there were present Commodore Morgan, R. Suydam Palmer, the Marquis of Ormonde, Mr. Kerr, the Earl's brother-in-law; Archibald Rogers, Sir George Leech, Colonel Paget and others. The dinner was served at 7 o'clock, and when it was over the entire party went to the house of the New-York Yacht Club where supper and an informal reception were awaiting Lord Dunraven. ong the guests at the clubhouse was Lieutenant Henn, who challenged and sailed for the cup with the cutter Galatea in 1886. Among others present were Commodore Morgan, Archibald Rogers, William Butler Duncan, Jr., J. V. S. Oddie, F. W. J. Hurst, S. Nicholson Kane, Chester Griswold, Irving Grinnell, James D. Stalth, A. Cass Canneld, Frederick Tams, Latham A. Fish, A. B. Jones, F. T. Robinson, F. M. Cronise and other prominent members of the club.

MUSICAL MATTERS.

Mr. Pachmann gave the first of his projected three Chopin recitals at Chickering Hall yesterday afternoon, playing the pieces announced in this journal on Sunday. He was heard by an audience journal on Sunday. He was heard by an audience that filled the hall, and he gave the keenest pleasure to all those present who were devoted to the evangel of Chopin. Fortunately for the public and also for the music. Mr. Pachmann did not consider it necessary unduly to grin and grimace, play the buffoon or commune audibly with himself while ring. He behaved like an artist, and when he oses to behave thus and play music for its own sake he is one of the most fascinating planists alive. Concerning the characteristics of his playing it is scarcely necessary to speak again. He made them fully known two years ago, and the accuracy of execution, the amazing velocity when velocity is called for, the finish of his phrasing or the sweetness of his sentiment which carried everybody captive when first he came. The manner in which he played the finale of the Sonath op. 25, driving the phanton tones past the senses like white mists on the night wind, was bewildering in the extreme. He plays again at the same place next Tuesday afternoon.

It is announced that Mr. Ziehrer at his concerts in the Madison Square Garden next month will produce a number of original compositions, including the Columbian march dedicated to President Cleveland.

OBSTRUCTION IN THE SENATE.

THE COMPROMISE TALK NOT IMPOSING.

From The Brooklyn Standard-t nion.

Senator Voorhees promises to begin fighting, but his vigor is not regarded seriously. The talk of compromise of the question before the Senate increases in intensity, but it is not imposing. If there is any compromise that continues the purchase of any silver for any time, there will be very little left of Grover Cieveland, and the Van Alen incident will be forever accepted as the ripe fruit of the maturity of his statesmanship.

A THOROUGHLY DEMOCRATIC IDEA. From The Minneapolis Tribune.

From The Minneapolis Tribune.

From Jefferson to Calhoun and from Calhoun down to Voorhees, the Democratic idea has been that Congress should have the minimum of National authority and the minimum of legislative power. That idea has finally been consummated in the impotent legislative body over which Senator Voorhees is now the Administration guardina—a body in which the majority is a helpless aggregation, powerless to but a motion for a vote on a measure which has been continuously debated for nearly six weeks, and ignobly compelled to resort to brute force in the vain attempt to starve and outsit a minority into allowing a vote to be cast.

From The New-York Herald.

While the rules of the Senate put no express they do not an implied limit on debate. That limit is the limit of fair and honorable debate. It is obviously passed when a minority expressly avows that it has abandoned all pretence of debate, and openly boasts that it has resorted to deliberate obstruction, pure and simple.

MAY BRING ABOUT A CURE.

From The Eoston Herild.

Let young Senator Dubois keep right on with his obstructive tactics. Sometimes salutary reforms are brought about by a lemagogue's demonstration of the necessity of them.

A PLAIN DEMAND FOR STRAIGHT REPEAL.

A PLAIN DEMAND FOR STANDING.

The people demand straight repeal. The House has voted straight repeal. A majority of the Senate favors straight repeal. What room is there for a crooked compromise? Furthermore, the foundation principle of popular government is involved. To compromise the right of the majority to rule is disloyalty to the Republic. Opposition to compromise is resistance to revolution.

DE JOHN S. H. POGG.

He was graduated from Bowdoin in 1816, and from the Harvard Medica Bowdoin in 1856, and from the Harvard Medical School in 1856, the served in the Massachusetts 'egislature in 1855, and was a member of the Doston School Board for many years. It was, however, as an autograph expert that he was most noted. Perhaps the most remarkable instance of his skill was in the case of the famous Leftingwell collection, one of the chief features of which was an admirable set of autographs of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. The legatees were on the point of disposing at private sale of the whole collection for $5,000, when the attention of Dr. Fogg was called to the proposed step. In accordance with his suggestion, the sale was finally made by auction in Beston, and he himself made the entire catalogue. The result was that the 'Signers of the Declaration' alone brought 10,000, and the whole collection more than $50,000. Dr. Fogg leaves a large and choice collection of his own. For more than twenty years he had been a sufferer from paraplegic paralysts. School in 1856. He served in the Massachusetts

JOHN RUSKIN'S HEALTH

From The Boston Transcript.

There are so many rumors of Professor Ruskin's state of health, and even of his insanity, that we are glad to receive from the lips of a Cambridge gentieman, a personal friend and visitor of Ruskin's, an authoritative statement as to his health. This gentieman, who was in England this summer, reports that Mr. Ruskin, though broken and unable ever to be what he once was, is yet comfortably well off. Ilving quietly, not receiving many visitors, playing coess a good deal and pleasing himself in the social atmosphere of his Brantwood home. Ruskin's erotism has made him many enemies, yet he is a great fellow. You feel tailer and richer after reading him, think better of yourself and of others and see deeper into nature and art.

HEAVIER STATE TAXES.

ONE RESULT OF DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT.

AN INCREASE OF MORE THAN TWO AND A HALF MILLION DOLLARS IN ONE YEAR-HOW THE VARIOUS COUNTIES SUFFER.

Albany, Oct. 17 .- The taxpayers of the State are beginning to groan over the large increase in Legislature. The Legislature was made aware of the fact that even if it kept the appropriations at a level with those of the preceding year, it would thereby reduce State taxation; since the State's increase from its indirect taxation laws, the Inheritance Tax and the Corporation Tax had largely increased, and these additional funds could e used to pay a good share of the State's bills But the Legislature was reckless. Composed large ly of Tammany Hall members accustomed to the large appropriations of the New-York City govern ment, it was in no temper to cut down proposed State appropriations. Instead of reducing the State appropriations, it largely increased them; so largely as to swallow up the increased receipts from the indirect taxetion laws already men tioned, and so, also, as to increase the grand total of the State's expenditures. This made it necessary to increase the State tax-rate from 1.98 mills to 2.58 mills. In terms of dollars it increased the State taxes from $7.784.818 16 in 1892, to $10.418.192 08 n 1893-an increase of $2,633,343 92.

Nor did this $2,633,343 92 give the full measure of the Legislature's extravagance. Much of it was concealed by the payment of the Legislature's appropriations with the increased receipts from the indirect taxation laws. All these laws were introduced by Republican members of the Legislature and passed by Republican Legislatures. They are generally known as the "Inheritance Tax law," the "Law Taxing Corporations for the Privilege of Organizing," the "Law Taxing Foreign Bankers" and the "Corporation Tax Law." In 1892 these laws put in the State Treasury the sum of $1,535,573 66. The present year they have brought in $5,101,704 25 an increase of $1,506,131 19. Every dollar of this increase of the receipts from the indirect tax laws which should have been used in reducing State taxation has been employed in paying bills incurred by the Legislature.

The increase of State taxation by the Democratic Legislature can best be shown by adding the re-ceipts from the indirect taxation laws to the sam tion for the support of the State Government. The two sums united indicate roughly the total amount of the appropriations made by the Legislature. In the table below the taxpayer can compare in this manner the amount of the direct State tax with the receipts from the indirect tax laws, and will thus learn approximately the total amount of apprepriations made from year to year recently by the Legislature:

The Legislature of 1890 was Republican in both branches, James W. Husted being Speaker of the Assembly and J. Siont Parsett the President pro-tempere of the Senate. This was the last Legisla-ture of recent years in which the Republican party has controlled legislation in both branches of the Legislature. Compare its record with that of the Democratic party in control of both branches of the Legislature in 1892 and 1892, and it will be evident from the above table that the Republican Senators and Assemblymen were the more economical. Legislature of 1800, as disclosed in the State tax and the receipts from the indirect tax laws, was $11.072,07484, while the Democratic Legislature of 1802, tested in the same manner, appropriated $11,329,431.22, and the Democratic Legislature of 1893 appropriated the large sum of $15.519,896.33. There has thus been an increase between 1800 and 1803 of $1.437.821 49 in appropriations by the Legislature But, as already indicated, $1.500.000 of these appropriations the past year are concealed by the in-creased receipts from the indirect tax laws.

It should be stated that the Legislature of 1891 was divided politically, the Senate being a Republican and the Assembly a Democratic body. Furthermore, the Republican Congress and Presi direct tax of $2,213,320 86, paid in 1861, which beyear. This amount should be added to the total o

"When I first went as Minister to Turkey," said General Lew Wallace, "a very funny thing happened me. One of the first and most important duties I had to fulfil was a call of state which I had to pay to the Sultan. As first impressions are most leating, I took particular pains to agreeably impress the Sultan, and though somewhat perturbed in mind over the unaccustomed duty, I acquitted myself very well, so much so that it led to one of the most embarrassing and laughable experiences of my whole life. Great was my astonishment, shortly after arriving at home, to receive a visit from one of the great functionaries of the Sultan's court, bearing a token of his highest esteem in the shape of an elegant present. It was a beautiful young lady from his own harem. You may Imagine, If you can, the predicament I was in. If I should refuse to accept the present it might seriously offend the Majesty and cause serious international complications. On the other hand, if I accepted the beauty, how could I ever explain to the American people? And there was Mrs. Wallace!

"The short of it was that I sent her back, and next day I succeeded in explaining to the Sultan the position it would place me in before my people at home, and convinced him that it would not be wise for me to accept such a gift. He eventually replaced the present with one much more satisfactory—to Mrs. Wallace, at lenst."
